Senators Charge Lansing and McAdoo Obtained Change in Neutral Policy Under 'Pressure' From Morgan Co. and Britain.

STATE DEPARTMENT PAPERS DISCLOSED

Financier Admits Withdrawing Support of Pound on Exchange But Denies He Sought to Influence Government.

By PAUL Y. ANDERSON, A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10-On the strength of new documentary evi M. Barnett, attorney for and pro-fessor of legal ethics at the Uni-versity of Missouri for 21 years, was that war-time Secretary of State Lansing and Secretary of the Treasin the State Penitentiary. Barnett ury McAdoo, acting under "pressure" from J. P. Morgan & Co. and the British Government, secretly persuaded President Wilson in 1915 to withdraw objections to the flotation of foreign loans in the United States.

They declared that this "pres sure" was applied by "pulling the plug" on British exchange, thus arousing grave fears that Great Britain would be compelled to can-cel large war orders in the United

The charge was vigorously denied by J. P. Morgan in person, who de-clared that such an action by his firm would have been "discredit able" and that "we never did such a thing in our life."

Despite his condemnation by the French courts, which delegated express to examine his "secret," to have to have the country of the allies. As is known, these loans are now in default. The figure was disclosed in a colloquy between Senator Clark and Morgan than the country.

The Morgan partners conceded that they were acting under Brit ish instructions when they jerked their financial support from the pound sterling; that the result was a precipitous fall in the ex-change rate, which, in turn, did have a serious effect on the American economic situation. The threatening aspects of this situation were forcefully presented to President Wilson by Lansing and McAdoo. Wilson thereupon au thorized Lansing to tell the bankers-but "not in writing"-that the iministration would take no action either for or against the flotation of a British loan in this country. The result was the $500,000,000 British-French loan of October, 1915.

This constituted a complete versal of the policy previously established by Secretary of State William J. Bryan (who later resigned) who pronounced foreign loans "inconsistent with the true spirit of true neutrality," and said that their effect would be to embroil United States in the war.

Prosperity Argument Put Up to President by Son-in-law, Lansing Joined in-Policy of 'Not Opposing' Deals Adopted.

A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10 .- From his summer home in North Haven, Me., Secretary McAdoo, addressed a long letter to President Wilson in August, 1915, arguing that the Allies could not continue to purchase enormous quantities of munitions and food in the United States unless a way was found to extend them "reasonable credits." He declared the end of war orders would mean the end of prosperity in this country. The letter was made public by the Senate Munitions Committee yesterday.

Since the sale of munitions was "lawful commerce," he said, ac-

Since the sale of munitions was "lawful commerce," he said, acceptances based on such exports should be eligible for rediscount at Federal Reserve banks. Otherwise, national banks would not buy them freely. The failure of Federal Reserve Banks to accept them was attributed by McAdoo to the influence of two members of the Federal Reserve Board—Adolphus Miller and Paul M. Warburg—both of whom he charged with being "pro-German."

The "Arabic incident" referred to was the sinking of the steamship Arabic by a German submarine aug. 19, 1915. Two Americans lost their lives.

McAdoo had no fear that the country would be embarrassed by extending credits to foreign governments. He said American credit resources at the time were "simply marvelous." He promised to present further complaints against Miller and Warburg.

TESTIMONY TO BEGIN TODAY IN MOVIE SUIT

Ex-Senator James A. Reed Makes One of Opening Statements in Injunction Action.

Testimony was expected to begin before Federal Judge Joseph W Molyneaux today in the movie injunction suit, following completion of opening statements of counsel, which began yesterday. The Gov-ernment sued to enjoin Warner Bros., Paramount and R-K-O movie interests from withholding films from Fanchon & Marco's Ambassador, Missouri and Grand Central Theaters.

First witnesses to be called by the Government will be a group of film exchange managers, to present the necessary proof of the interstate character of the business.

Testimony was expected to require possibly two or three weeks trast with the six weeks con sumed last autumn in trial of similar group of corporate interests and some of their executives on a charge of conspiracy to violate the anti-trust law in withholding films. Defendants were acquitted in the conspiracy case, in which much time was taken to argue admissibility of evidence; such protracted arguments were not anticipated in the injunction case. 1120 PCT. OF AMERICAN MULES IN ETHIOPIA DIE

Rest of 4000 Sent With Italian Army Have Become Acclimated, However.

Correspondenc of the Associated Press. MAKALE, Italian Occupied Territory.—This is a story about mules—just mules, American, Sicilian, Eritrean and Ethiopian.

Four-footed sons of toil, they have carried literally thousands of tons of food and munitions over territory even tougher than them-the 4000 American mules here have died. But the other 80 per cent will "live forever," as an officer re-marked, because they have become acclimated.

A Florentine lieutenant in charge of a supply company was proceed-ing along the road to Makale with native troops and a large following of mules. A general drove up and

"How many mules have you, lieutenant?" "We had 200 to start with sir, but 35 of them died." Surprise Problem in Arithmetic. Wishing to test the lieutenant's arithmetic, the general asked quickly, "So how many have you now?"

The junior replied instantly, "Two hundred and twenty, sir."

"How can that be!" exclaimed the "As we went along, other mules Liberal curses have been rained on the heads of Ethiopian mules in these days. Officers and soldiers who tried to ride them found quickly that white faces made them even more skittish than usual. But what no one can explain is why the mules wait until they are at the edge of a precipice to do their American and other mules have the honor of being shod by the most-feared man in a native brigade. This is none other than the blacksmith. The Eritrean troops have the deep-rooted belief that anyone who works in iron is possessed of an evil spirit and turns at night into a hyena.

When the askaris gather round their campfires at night and in the distance a hyena howls, they mutter significantly, "the black-

Eritrean troops thoroughly be-lieve that you can't do anything with an Ethiopian mule unless you address it in Yigrain, the dialect of the province of Tigre, or with a Sicilian mule unless you address it in Italian.

They attribute the loss of so many American mules to the fact that they don't know the mules'

Since the Italian army purchased 18,000 camels for transport, there is a big question of social preced-ence between the camel-drivers and the mule-drivers. The question is complicated by the fact that the camel leaders are Mohammedans and the muleteers are Coptic Chris-

As an officer remarked, You have to be a Christian to get on with a mule."

50 COMBAT PLANES TAKE OFF

Start From Quantico, Va., to San Juan in Test of Machines. By the Associated Press. QUANTICO, Va., Jan. 10.—Fifty

arine corps combat planes took off from the marine base here this morning for Miami, Fla., the first stop on a 2400-mile mass flight to San Juan, Puerto Rico.

The expedition, commanded by Lieutenant-Colonel Roy S. Geiger, is a part of extensive maneuvers planned to test the power of marine corps fighting machines operating far from their base. From Miami the planes will proceed to Cuba, where a stop has been arranged at Camaguey, thence to Port Au Prince, Haiti; Santo Domingo City and San Juan.

gists, of whom 147 had replied, up to yesterday. Of the answers, 118 WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.-The tee, with Secretary of State Hull's approval, today eliminated from the administration neutrality bill part of the section relating to her section rel exports of commodities to belligerents which some contend tied the of Nations sanctions. The part eliminated would have said the President should prohibit shipment of articles that may be used for war purposes whenever he found "that to refrain from placing such restrictions would contribute to a prolongation or expansion of the war.'

United States too close to League

Retained, however, were provisions that such shipments should be barred whenever the President found it would "serve to promote the security and preserve the neu-trality of the United States, or to protect the lives and commerce of nations" of this country.

Critics of the phrase eliminated including Senator Vandenberg (Rep.), Michigan, contended that if the League voted an oil embargo, the United States might have been forced to join in the action.

Hull, who attended the meeting, was represented as having placed a different construction on the langguage, but agreed to its elimina-tion to avoid misinterpretations.

House Committee Hearing.

Prof. Edward A. Harriman of George Washington University here told the House Foreign Affairs Committee today that neutrality legislation did not tend to promote peace and that belief that it did resulted from "highly subsidized peace

He urged that no neutrality legislation be passed at this time.
"While I do not favor any neutrality legislation since it does not tend to promote peace," he said, "I concede that public sentiment exists in favor of such legislation together with the idea that such measures keep us out of war, a belief I do not share."

Yesterday's Testimony; Prof. Bor-chard Urges Caution. Edwin M. Borchard, professor of international law at Yale University, advised Congress yesterday t be cautious in enacting neutrality legislation. Borchard is the autho of "Bibliography of International Law and Continental Law" (1913) and a compilation of miscarriages of justice entitled "Convicting the Innocent" (1932).

Testifying before the House com mittee, he said that Congress was "monkeying with the most dangerous buzz-saw in the world."

"The high spot of this bill," he said of the measure, "is that it gives the President power to be just as unneutral as he desires to be and in my humble opinion the President shouldn't want that power."

Opposes One Section.

Borchard contended that the section dealing with export of articles and materials used for war purposes d give the President "an lute discretion to regiment the en tire foreign trade of the United States whenever any foreign war exists anywhere." He recommended that a neutrality act be limited to the embargo of arms and loans to belligerents loss of citizenship to Americans enlisting in foreign armies and loss of protection by American citizens who take passage on belligerent ships. He recommended that United States ports not be made a source of supply for belligerent vessels at sea and said that belliger ent submarines and armed belliger ent merchantmen should be treated as war ships in American ports. "Beyond that," said Borchard "the rules of international law, competently administered, would adequately take care of the United States and provide all the safeguards necessary to insure American neutrality."

For Mandatory Legislation. Borchard and Charles G. Hyde professor of international law at Columbia University, both said that mandatory neutrality legislation was necessary.

Borchard contended that the United States should retain its doc-trine of "freedom of the seas," and added this policy had never drawn the United States into war.

"It was not trade but incomp tence in executive departments which drew the United States into the World War," said Borchard. He added that Americans traveled on the Lusitania and the Sussex, both British ships, despite German warnings and "took their lives in their own hands."

"The State Department acquiescen n this," Borchard continued. "The Lusitania note should never have been sent. It put President Wilson out on a limb and forced his hand. There is no statutory way to prevent executive incompetence."

Borchard said the United States would begin to lose its world markets the day the neutrality bill, as now drawn, was passed. He said that countries would not do busi-ness with the United States "when they know they may be cut off at the whim of an executive."

Audit Shows Patients Pay Only 6 Pct. of Operating Expenses of In stitution.

St. Louis County taxpayers paid 94 per cent of the cost of operating against Fascism is at once the only St. Louis County Hospital during the first 11 months of 1935 while payments by those who received hospital services amounted to only 6 per cent, it was shown in an audit filed with the County Court today by Schuessler, Keller & Co., certified public accountants.

The report severely criticised bookkeeping and accounting methods at the hospital, stating that "the records are not at all adequate to give assurance that all collections have been recorded in the books." All recorded cash appeared to have been accounted for.

The practice of delaying payments to the County Treasurer of money collected and its use, unau-thorized by the County Court, for direct payment of some salaries and expenses also was declared im

The figures submitted for operat ing cost did not include deprecia-tion of buildings and equipment nor interest on the funded debt. A supplementary report covering these items will be made later, it was stated.

Following a reading of the report, County Judge Eugene Tighe moved that Dr. Edwin L. Sheahan, superintendent, against whom an ouster suit is pending, be removed. The motion failed for want of a nospital expenditures were $214,724. from patients, leaving $201,487 to be paid by the county. For the full lection from those who had agreed year of 1934 expenditures were to pay part or all of hospital bills. $251,453, receipts were $21,669 ar $251,453, receipts were $21,669 at The report showed a total of $89,the cost borne by the county was 865 due from patients, $25,635 of $239.784.

Half of the county revenue from taxes in 1935 was allocated to the Pauper and Insane Fund from which the annual hospital operat ing deficit was paid. Examination by the Post-Dispatch showed that in 1930, the year before the hospital began operation, the Pauper and Insane fund from which St. Louis institutions were paid for care of the county's indigent, was only $112,-000, while for 1935 it amounted to about $500,000. Almost half will be used to make up the hospital deficit.

Operating cost during 1935, on a basis of 11 months, was $2384 a 64 were for more than $200, and 124 month lower than 1934. However, for amounts between $100 and $200 there were fewer patients. In 1934, and 2506 for less than $100.

"We found the patients' accounts in a chaotic coandition," the re-port stated. "In addition to three ent office personnel, we found nine containing accounts actually due

Average Collections The average monthly cash collections for the last four years were given as follows: 1932, $2582; 1933, $1673; 1934, $1674; 1935, $1109. "It is apparent that the trend of recorded monthly collections has been steadily downward during the current year," the report stated. "All months except three show decreases, not alone when compared with the corresponding month of 1934, but also when compared with the preceding month of 1935. This trend shows only in 1935. Also you will notice that the months of May and June and the months of August to November, inclusive, reflect the smallest volume of nonthly collections since the hospital was opened

"Inquiry as to efforts made to collect accounts revealed that, although the terms provided that room and board is to be paid weeky in advance, it is not customary to present patients with bills until such time as they leave the hospital. The accumulated accounts due from patients indicate all too clearly the result of such methods.
"We were informed that no monthly statements had been sen out to former patients since the beginning of October, at which time the personnel of the office was completely changed. It is our opin-ion that little or no effort has been made to effect collections and we found no evidence that any of the staff has sufficient knowledge of credits and collections to recognize the seriousness of the situation existing in regard to patients' ac-

Bookkeeping System Lax.

The auditors emphasized lack of an adequate and proper bookkeeping and accounting system "There is not the slightest de-gree of control over patients' ac-counts," they reported, "and there is no system of internal check to give assurance that charges are properly made and that monies collected are properly accounted for."

Absence of inventory records made it impossible, it was explained, to state the cost of drugs used during a given period. Purchases for the Health Department ilso were made through the hospital, making it difficult to determine the expense chargeable to the hospital. Combined drug purchases of

WALLACE STATES SOME OF HIS IDEAS ON FARM PROBLEM

Advises Agricultural Leaders Not to Base New Plan on "Policy of Domestic Scarcity."

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.-An opportunity to draft a new farm-aid plan "as decisively in the farm interest as the AAA and which will make an even stronger appeal to the consumers of the nation" was presented to assembled agricultural leaders today by Secretary of Agriculture Wallace.

He told 100 farm leaders at a conference which he called that the invalidated Agricultural Adjustment Act had been "steadily directed to the general welfare."

Wallace gave no hint of what new farm program he approved, but he said: "The time has come for those who believe that the balanced welfare of agriculture is essential to the general welfare to speak plainly about obstructionists. I am sure than most business men and con sumers are friendly to the farmer, but there are certain small but powerful cliques which have stead-ily fought all efforts on the part of this Government and preceding Governments to extend even a modest aid to agriculture. "Some of these obstructionists to the agricultural welfare, as it re-lates to the general welfare, hope and believe the resent decision means the end of all effective governmental interest in the farm

"Others are willing to buy the farmers off temporarily with un-sound measures. A familiar meth-od of the opposition is to split the farm group among themselves. "Ought to Be Challenged."
"Wherever the obstructionists to

"Wherever the obstructionists to the future welfare of agriculture and the nation may be found, no matter how openly or how obscure-ly they may burrow in the service of special interests and outworn principles, they ought to be chal-

This seems a suitable occasio to throw the spotlight of chal-lenge upon them in the name of agricultural welfare and the general welfare. These obstructionists will be found in all parties, from the extreme left to the extreme right. They will be found in all regions and classes, but of course they rep-and classes, but of course they represent a minority.

"I know they cannot speak for business men generally. Of the hundreds of encouraging telegrams that have come to us this week, an astonishingly high proportion are from country bankers, merchants and other independent business men. It is up to all who are constructively minded to push forward in the name of agricultural unity for the sake of national unity in the long run."

Cotton, Corn Situation.

"With favorable weather and no acreage control," Wallace said, "it is quite possible that we may have this year a 16,000,000-bale cotton crop or even larger. Similarly as to this year a 16,000,000-bale cotton crop or even larger. Similarly as to corn, it is conceivable that without acreage control there will be planted 110,000,000 acres which, if we have a favorable crop year, would give us fully 500,000,000 bushels in excess of the demand by the present livestock population and possible mill takings."

"It is a real accomplishment that in the last there years so many town and city people of the United States have come to understand the relationship of town and city welfare to the welfare of agriculture," Wallace said.

"For the present, however, it is

"For the present, however, it is clear that in the cities of the great industrial and commercial groups of the East and the Pacific Coast there is as yet far too little understanding of the true relationship of agricultural welfare to the general welfare.

Consideration of Consumer.

"I am mentioning this situation because I think it is exceedingly important that in drawing up any important that in drawing up any new agricultural program we must be in a position sconer or later to convince the consuming population that our program is not merely for agricultural welfare, but also in the interest of the general welfare.

"No agricultural program, I hope, will be sponsored by this group which means scarcity to the consumer. We all recognize that a farm prosperity gained by a policy of domestic food scarcity could not and should not be lasting."

Davis Addresses Meeting.

Chester C. Davis, Adiminstrator of the AAA, indicated that his personal preference for a new program involved soil conservation with the possible use of a domestic allotment plan. This proposal would pay a bounty to farmers.

possible use of a domestic allotment plan. This proposal would pay a bounty to farmers on their allotted share of domestic consumption. Speaking to the farmers, Davis said he believed conditional pay-ments to farmers would be permit-ted under the Supreme Court's AAA decision. Payments might be made he indicated. decision. Payments might be made, he indicated, for positive use of land for soil conservation purposes, thus indirectly keeping a check upon overproduction. As a basis for these conditional payments it was indicated the domestic allotment plan might be used. St. Louis County taxpayers paid 94 per cent of the cost of operating against Fascism is at once the only St. Louis County Hospital during the first 11 months of 1935 while payments by those who received hospital services amounted to only per cent, it was shown in an audit filed with the County Court today by Schuessler, Keller & Co.,

certified public accountants. The report severely criticised bookkeeping and accounting methods at the hospital, stating that "the records are not at all adequate to give assurance that all collections have been recorded in the books." All recorded cash appeared to have

The figures submitted for operating cost did not include depreciation of buildings and equipment nor interest on the funded debt. A supplementary report covering these items will be made later, it was stated.

Following a reading of the report, County Judge Eugene Tighe moved that Dr. Edwin L. Sheahan, superintendent, against whom an ouster suit is pending, be removed. The motion failed for want of a

Half of the county revenue from taxes in 1935 was allocated to the Pauper and Insane Fund from which the annual hospital operating deficit was paid. "It is apparent that the trend of recorded monthly collections has been steadily downward during the current year," the report stated. "There is not the slightest degree of control over patients' accounts," they reported, "and there is no system of internal check to give assurance that charges are roperly made and that monies col lected are properly accounted for." Absence of inventory records made it impossible, it was explained, to state the cost of drugs used during a given period. WALLACE STATES SOME OF HIS IDEAS ON FARM PROBLEM

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, Jan. 10 .- An opportunity to draft a new farm-aid plan "as decisively in the farm interest as the AAA and which will make an even stronger appeal to the consumers of the nation" was presented to assembled agricultural leaders today by Secretary of Agriculture Wallace.

He told 100 farm leaders at a conference which he called that the invalidated Agricultural Adjustment Act had been "steadily directed to the general welfare."

Wallace gave no hint of what new farm program he approved, but he said:

"The time has come for those who believe that the balanced welfare of agriculture is essential to the general welfare to speak plainly about obstructionists. I am sure than most business men and con sumers are friendly to the farmer but there are certain small but powerful cliques which have stead-ily fought all efforts on the part of this Government and preceding Governments to extend even a mod-

It is up to all who are constructively minded to push forward in the name of explanations with the name of explanations. the name of agricultural unity for the sake of national unity in long run."

Cotton, Corn Situation.
"With favorable weather and no acreage control," Wallace said, "it is quite possible that we may have this year a 16,000,000-bale cotton crop or even larger. Similarly as to corn, it is conceivable that without acreage control there will be plant-ed 110,000,000 acres which, if we ed 110,000,000 acres which, if we have a favorable crop year, would give us fully 500,000,000 bushels in excess of the demand by the present livestock population and possible mill takings."

"It is a real accomplishment that in the last there years so many town and city people of the United States have come to understand the relationship of town and city welfare to the welfare of agriculture," Wallace said.

"For the present, however, it is clear that in the cities of the great industrial and commercial groups of the East and the Pacific Coast there is as yet far too little understanding of the true relationship of agricultural welfare to the general

"I am mentioning this situation because I think it is exceeding! important that in drawing up any new agricultural program we must be in a position sooner or later to convince the consuming population that our program is not merely for agricultural welfare, but also in the interest of the general welfare.

"No agricultural program, I hope will be sponsored by this group which means scarcity to the consumer. We all recognize that a farm prosperity gained by a policy of domestic food scarcity could not

Davis Addresses Meeting.
Chester C. Davis, Adiminstrator of the AAA, indicated that his personal preference for a new program involved soil conservation with the possible use of a domestic allotment plan. This proposal would pay a bounty to farmers on their allotted share of domestic consumption.

Speaking to the farmers, Davis said he believed conditional payments to farmers would be permitted under the Supreme Court's AAA ted under the Supreme Court's AAA decision. Payments might be made, he indicated, for positive use of land for soil conservation pur-

Bitterest Contests Likely to Be for Places on Party Committees - 46 Offices to Be Filled.

With the primary election less than seven months away and the excitement of a presidential year in the air, politicians of both major parties in St. Louis have begun to prepare slates of candidates. Although the Democrats have been in control for the past three years, recent months, believing their optimistic attitude: chances of returning to power in the city are much brighter than they were before.

Nominations for 46 state and local offices will be made in the primary. At the same time the 56 members each of the Democratic and Republican city committees will be elected for four-year terms. Some of the bitterest contests doubt-less will be for places on the party committees, the personnel of which may affect the mayoral race in 1937 and the patronage until 1940. Following their crushing defeats in the general election of 1932 and the city election of 1933, Republican forces have been at low ebb but lately they have shown renewed activity and restored optimism. They have begun to plan a thorough organization by precincts, and to look for substantial contributions for a campaign fund from business

Republicans have taken heart in following factors supporting their The Literary Digest poll, now showing Missouri as 57.26 per cent

1932, had a normal Republican majority of 25,000 to 30,000. Caulfield and Barrett.

The Republicans have been con centrating on the idea of electing the next Governor, in order to obtain the appointment of the Election Board and the Police Board The present boards, appointed by Gov. Park, will continue in office early next year. For the Republican gubernatorial nomination those who have been most frequentmentioned here are Henry S. Caulfield, Governor in 1929-32, and Jesse W. Barrett, Attorney-General of Missouri in 1921-24.

Democratic politicians have felt sure that the factions supporting and opposing Mayor Dickmann would carry their differences into primary, probably intensified The Mayor, asked by a Post-Dispatch reporter whether he would have a slate of candidates, said he had done nothing along this line yet, but added, "When the time comes, I'll be in there pitching." Both factions, however, have agreed on support of Lloyd C. the Pendergast-indor candidate for Governor, and they may agree on some other State offices. The fight will be particularly for local offices carrying much patronage, with the coming mayoral contest in mind. One such struggle will be for Sheriff, to succeed Thomas R. The Republicans, who shown a desire to nominate a ticket of strong candidates, have begun to plan ahead for the mayoral elec-tion. They have talked of drafting Louis Nolte, veteran Comptroller to run for Mayor. Others mentioned, if Nolte would not accede, have been Edmond Koeln, former Collector; Isaac A. Hedges, Carl G. Stifel and Jules R. Field, who was secretary to Mayor Miller.

ATLANTA, Ga., Jan. 10.—A 37-year-old Chicago widow, Mrs. Pearl Miller, who disappeared more than a week ago while driving from Miami to her home, was found dead today on the back seat of her automobile parked in a garage here.

A detective said there were scratches on her neck and a bruise on the head. Her purse, containing $17, was not disturbed, nor were a ring and a wrist watch. Her fur coat was pulled over her head and both back doors of the car were open. The ignition switch was on, the gasoline tank was empty and the battery had run Edward Miller, 21, her son, who came here in search of her, said his mother had gone to Miami to work, became ill and had started driving back to Chicago alone.

Strict Pipeline Control Urged. Other recommendations made by the commission are as follows: Strict Federal regulation of inter-state pipeline companies with control over rates, security issues and intercorporate relations of companies owning or controlling gas A Federal regulatory body which should have among its other supervisory powers the right to compel "all reasonable extensions of service to communities desiring natural gas which can be supplied by companies which transport gas for public consumption, without undue disturbance of existing service requirements, or those reasonably to be anticipated."

The complete separation of gas and electrical utilities. Federal and state legislation forbidding banks to control or manage utilities; this would apply to electrical as well as gas utilities.

Need for Joint Regulation. "Federal jurisdiction," the Comnission says, "plus the jurisdiction of the several states, should be so utilized and co-ordinated as to produce effective regulation and the termination of existing abuses and eave no unregulated twilight zone. In the nature of things conserva-tion of the supply of natural gas is primarily of national concern, but under the country's constitutional system, its legislative accomplishment is largely for the states, unless the Federal taxing power or the power to enact measures for common defense can be invoked. In the majority decision on the Agricultural Adjustment Act handd down by the Supreme Court Monday Justice Roberts declared hat the taxing power could be used solely to raise revenue for the Govrnment, thus apparently ruling out taxes intended to regulate or control for social purposes.

"The commission recommends." the report says, "that natural gas pacts with each other, subject to ongressional approval, providing for the enactment of State conser vation laws, with State boards de termining the amount and respec tive quotas of gas to be produced and other fair and equitable measures for conserving the natural gas supply, having due regard for actual primary needs; recommendations as to amounts to be produced to be made to those State boards by some Federal agency invested by the Congress with full and coninuous investigatory powers as to basic and all underlying and equitable conditions." Would Separate Two Industries. Concerning gas and electrical companies under the control of one ompany, the commission says:

"Because of the fact that gas and electricity are increasingly competitive, and in many commucompetitive, and in many commu-nities are the two chief sources of power and light, and because three of the four dominant interests in natural gas and gas pipe lines also are in the electrical utility field, it seems obvious that such double control presents a problem merit-ing serious consideration. The commission therefore recommends that, with proper limitations as to time and place, divorcement of the two be made compulsory."

The report lists 16 "evils" that are said to characterize the natural gas industry. Foremost is the waste of natural gas which is said to amount to a billion and a quar-ter cubic feet of gas per day in one field alone.

Listed also are "unregulated mo-nopolistic control" of gas produc-tion areas "unregulated control" That Hangs On tion areas, "unregulated control" of pipe lines, "costly struggles beween rival natural gas interests o conquer or defend territories of distribution," and "exploiting subsidiary natural gas companies through fees for construction, mangement, promotion, etc."

the difference between the first cost and the cost of distribution, are distributed to patrons in proportion to the purchases they have made. In the words of the speaker, "the profit goes back to the people who created it." History of Co-operatives. Before sketching the growth of the movement in this country the speaker traced the history of the movement in Europe and the Unit-ed Kingdom from the founding of the first co-operative society the Manchester industrial district in England in 1844.

The seed was planted when 28 poverty-stricken weavers of Rochgether, contributed about $5 aniece to their co-operative society, and operating under three essential principles outlined by the speaker, began to operate as a co-operative first for the procurement and dis tribution of food, and later for the handling of scores of other commodities and services. "Success was immediate," he said, "and by 1863, so many co-op-Great Britain that a federation was formed. The movement branched out into the wholesale business, into manufacturing, into socialized medicine, owned its own motor trucks and its own shipping.

"Today, the British Co-operative Wholesale Society is the largest business in Great Britain. It supplies 1300 co-operatives and last year did $1,250,000,000 worth of business. Its activities cover the entire field of human activity, including insurance, banking, medical care and recreation.

"The growth of the movement may be summed up by saying that the International Co-Operative Alliance has federations in 40 countries, representing 250,000 co-opera more than 100,000,000 members, who are sharing in the profits of the business they do and are no longer paying extortionate tribute to the profit system."

The speaker characterized the cooperative movement as "the most radical in the world," but was careful to note that it lay between the economic extremes of Fascism and Communism, moving forward with government as possible, and recog nizing specifically the right of private property. It has the support of the churches, he added, pointing out, as an instance, that in Nova Scotia, priests of the Catholic University of St. Francis Xavier are spreading the doctrine of co-opera tion through the province.

Status in This Country.

In the United States, he cor tinued, there are now 12,000 co-oping 4000 co-operative banks, and leum products. In 1934, he said, 1600 co-operatives in this country about whom definite statistics were available, did a gross business of $48,000,000 on a capital investment of $18,000,000. After deductions were made for "capital wages." expansions, and other charges, a total of $6,000,000 was returned to pur chasers, he asserted.

The Co-operative Consumers o St. Louis was said to have about 200 members, and to be beginning operation in procurement and distribution. A co-operative in Alton is in full operation.

Dr. Warbasse retired from medpractice in 1919 and founded Co-operative League of the United States, of which he is president. He has visited most of the countries in which co-operatives are operating. His speaking schedule today included a morning address at January Hall, Washington University, and an afternoon talk at Eden Seminary. Tonight he is to speak on socialized medicine at the Washington University Medical School. Tomorrow he will appear before an audience of Washington University medical students, and Sunday he is to speak before the co-operative in Alton.

Almost everybody has heard of the man without a country, but only a few have heard of a basketball game without a timer, or for that matter, a timepiece. That's what happened yesterday after-noon at Beaumont when Soldan de-feated Blewett, 37 to 30, in the opening of the City High School League

Dave Cook, graduate of Illinois and professional football player with the Chicago Cardinals, himself an nus of Soldan, was pressed into

Dave Is Perplexed.

Now Dave Cook has played basketball and done right well, but he was not just sure what was required of him as a basketball scorer and the suddenness of his ap-pointment added to the confusion. A minute or so before the game was scheduled to start the scoreand League Secretary A. H. Plag said, "Here, Dave, you keep score." Nothing was said about keeping

The game started and both teams dashed up and down the floor, each side shooting frequently. At some time the score was 8 to 8. About that time the coaches, Referee Roy Newsom and the newspaper men began to fldget, figuring the quar-ter was about due to end. One of the scribes looked around and asked, "how much more time in the period?" and received blank looks from the others. Nobody was

D. C. (doctor of carburetors) handled the timing perfectly for the last three periods.

As for the game itself—Soldan scored a mild upset. Coach Harry White's boys were not favored towin from Blewett's veterans but the absence of Bill Lemen, regular center who twisted his right knee in the Normandy Christmas tournament, hurt Blewett's cause. # KRAUSE, MUDD BILLIKENS IN DE PAUL GAME

By James M. Gould.

According to Coach Mike Nyikes of St. Louis University, "practice makes perfect," or at least leads to an approximation of perfection. So, the portly coach who doesn't care any more about losing a bas-ketball game than he does about losing an eye or an ear, has dou-bled up on Billiken practice sessions in preparation for the team's toughest game of the season against De Paul University of Chicago here.

Nyikos found the doubling system worked well when he brought his players back early from Christmas holidays and the result of the hard practice was a steady, clever game which brought victory over the Centenary College team. In that game, two changes were made in the starting lineup of the kens and the two new starters performed so nobly that, it appears, won regular berths. Krause, long a reserve, played spectacularly at guard against Centen-ary and Mudd proved decidedly ac-

Paired with Krause at guard will be the team's captain, Herb Fash. Fash originally was a center but possesses allround ability and with Cagle doing well a center was switched to gua.d where he has played a great game all season, When Coach Nyikos wants to send

Paul is the class of the oppsition the Billikens will face this season. De Paul's schedule annually calls for series of games with Big Ten teams and the Chicagoans hold their own with their "bigger" opponents year after year. Much may be learned from strong opponent and the game, whether or not it results in defeat, will help the Billikens in prepara-tion for their games with Loyola of Chicago a week from tomorrow night and with the Washington U. Bears on Jan. 21.

COCHRAN LOSES EACH OF FIRST TWO BLOCKS IN CHALLENGE PLAY

HOPPE

CHICAGO, Jan. 10.-Willie Hoppe of New York, gray-haired and 48

years old, still is the boy wonder of billiards. The famed New Yorker, who has played championship billiards 29 years through three generations of years through three generations of sport stars, today had a lead of 28 points over Welker Cochran, San Francisco, in his challenge match for the world's three-cushion billiard championship. He beat Cochran, 60 to 41, in 57 innings, in their opening block yesterday afternoon, and polished him off, 60 to 51, in 69 innings last night. This afternoon and tonight they play their third and fourth blocks with the finals tomorrow afternoon and tomorrow night.

Back in 1907 when Ty Cobb was trying to keep a first-year job with Detroit, before Jack Dempsey crossed a right, or Babe Ruth had even hit a home run, Hoppe was playing championship billiards. Hoppe, still called Willie and the wonder, has played more billiards than any man since the game was invented.

Cochran in Lead Once.

Holder of all other champions Hoppe has never been able to annex the three-cushion crown. His greatest game came as a balk line champion. He is a present titleholder at 18.1. Hoppe seemed in a fair way today to realize his ambition in winning the three-cushion title, judging from his performance in two opening blocks of the 360-point match.

Cochran held the lead only once in the first block and in the second sat in his chair and watched Hoppe build up a lead that the San Francisco cue star, twice three-cushion champion, was never able to over

As a result of his victory last night, Hoppe has a total of 120 against 92 for Cochran. Cochran won the championship in the world's tournament held here in November with Hoppe earning the right to challenge by finishing sec-

Hoppe Regains His Stride.
The champion was in the lead only through the eighth inning, when he was ahead 11 to 8, and thereafter he trailed. He went without a score for 12 straight innings and encountered another string of ciphers from the forty-seventh to the fifty-third innings. At the 30 point intermission, Cochran was trailing 30 to 14, with 24 innings

After Hoppe appeared to have lost his touch in the early innings of the night block, he came back and built up a lead which Cochran was not

KRAUSE, MUDD TO START FOR BILLIKENS IN DE PAUL GAME

By James M. Gould.

According to Coach Mike Nyikos of St. Louis University, "practice makes perfect," or at least leads to an approximation of perfection. So, the portly coach who doesn't care any more about losing a bas-ketball game than he does about losing an eye or an ear, has dou-bled up on Billiken practice sestoughest game of the season against De Paul University of Chicago here, tem worked well when he brought his players back early from Christ-mas holidays and the result of the worked well when he bro hard practice was a steady, clever game which brought victory over the Centenary College team. In that game, two changes were made in the starting lineup of the Billikens and the two new starters per-formed so nobly that, it appears, they have won regular berths, Krause, long a reserve, played spectacularly at guard against Centen-ary and Mudd proved decidedly acceptable in a forward position.

Paired with Krause at guard will be the team's captain, Herb Fash. Fash originally was a center but possesses allround ability and with Cagle doing well a center was switched to gua.d where he has switched to guard where he has played a great game all season. When Coach Nylkos wants to send Ryan on the floor he generally pulls Cagle out and Fash takes over the center job. With Mudd on the forward line will be Mattis, a slim but speedy player with an accurate f eye for the basket.

Under the new rules, the center really is a third forward. Time was when the center's chief duty was as pivot man in the free-throw cirmain in this circle for more than three seconds under the new regu-lation which make pivoting practically impossible as a part of team-

There is little doubt that De Paul is the class of the oppsition the Billikens will face this season. De Paul's schedule annually calls for series of games with Big Ten teams and the Chicagoans hold their own with their "bigger" oppo-

Much may be learned from a strong opponent and the game, whether or not it results in defeat, will help the Billikens in prepara-tion for their games with Loyola of Chicago a week from tomorrow night and with the Washington U. ears on Jan. 21.

Washington University's team departs today for a three-game trip which calls for contests against Grinnell, Creighton and Drake, tomorrow, Monday and Tuesday in Grinnell, Omaha and Des Moines. The Bears' only Valley game thus far was that against Washburn far was that against Washburn which Coach Hellmich's men rather unexpectedly but deservedly won. Last year, the Bears failed to win a Conference game away from home. They loc. six foreign bat-

HARLEY BARRETT, the country's outstanding baseball scout, is confident that Brusie Ogrodowski will make good as a Cardinal catcher. Charley went to Houston to see Brusie while the young man was a member of the Redbirds' Texas League farm team. When he returned, Branch Rickey asked Charley about the catcher. Charley said he was very good. B. R. wanted to know if he was as good a catcher as Kenneth O'Dea, later sold to the Cubs. Charley replied that if the Cards retained title to Ogrodowski they could sell all the O'Deas in the organization Fine arm, fair speed, excellent receiver and a fair hitter with er, is the way Charley rates Bru-

Speaking of scouts, why is i that clubs like the Browns, which need players and virtually have to depend on what they can find in the minors, struggle along with inadequate scouting staffs? Browns may have observers here. there and everywhere, but except for Ray Cahill, they are very sec agents, if they exist at all Cahill is a competent scout, but there's a limit to the ground one man can cover. And there are many good scouts among the unemployed. One of them is Pat onohan. In these days you have to have a farm system or scouts and the progressive clubs have both.

Good Old Boat Schedule. THE Cardinals have changed their early plans for the trip to Cuba. The original sched ule called for departure from Por Tampa the evening of March 3 and arrival at Havana the following evening. However the sailing schedule will make it necessary to journey to Miami by bus, with the squad sailing Tuesday evening and arriving at Havana Wednesday morning. This will give everybody a day of sightseeing before the opening of the four-day exhibition schedule which won't make anybody angry But there won't be the same rush to see a guy named Joe that there would have been a few years ago.

It will be interesting to see what happens to the Athletics during the 1936 season, now that Connie Mack has disposed of Grove, Earnshaw, Cochrane, Simmons, Dykes, Walberg, Bishop, McNair, Williams, Cramer, Marcum and others. Connie says he is not going to tell anybody anything about his plans and that if the scribes want to know who is to be in Mackian uniform next season, they'll have to journey to the Fort Myers training camp. At that, this writer thinks the Athletics will be the surprise than one customer in the stand at any game.

Parmelee and the Heat.

CORRESPONDENT who signs "Bruce" wonders if Branch Rickey won't consider the Bud Parmelee trade a mercury skyrockets in July, August and perhaps September. "I'll never forget that series of last July," Bruce writes, "when the Cards and Giants were play ing that red-hot series at Sportsman's Park. Parmelee was on the mound for Terry in the second game of a doubleheader and the Giants piled up an early lead, having the issue decided after the second inning. Bud kept up a steady march from the box first base, apparently asking his manager to take him out of the game. It was 100 on that slab and Parmelee looked like some thing you take out of the washing machine on Monday morning.

Parmelee will have to get used to higher temperatures or else the Cardinal front office better start praying for cooler weather in

Giants Not on Market.

F HORACE STONEHAM, who is said to be in line to succeed his late father as president of the Giants, has anything to say about it, the club is not likely to be sold. Young Stoneham has grown up with the Giants and seems to like the business. He traveled with Terry's men through most of last season and attended the major-league meeting at Chi-Stoneham is a personable young man, more like the club owners of the old days. He was the innocent goat of the premature announcement of the unimportant details of the Whitehead-Parmelee trade. Everybody knew three weeks before that Whitehead and Parmelee were in the deal, but formal announcement about Weintraub, Stout and Al Cuccinello was to be made on a Tuesday morning. But the New York writers "put the squeeze" on Stoneham the night before, in-forming him that everybody else knew about the deal, so Horace broke down and told all. Some eyebrows were arched over incident, but it pleased the New York scribes. It is a relief to find a baseball official human enough break down occasionally and tell something.

Business Review NEW YORK, Jan. 10.—Developments uring the current week amplified the brightness of trade aspects for the ensuing year. Dun & Bradstreet said today in its weekly review of trade and business.

Meager inventories in both retail and wholesale divisions, acompanied by a strong desire for purchases of merchandise of good quality, the review says, "may contribute more forcibly than was estimated to rising production and distribution before the end of the first quarter."

Increased corporate earnings, larger bank clearings, and the rebound of industrial operations after the year-end recession, were other factors iending color to the picture.

The expected recession in retail sales after the holiday rush, the review says, was stammed by a series of sales featuring advantageous prices and quality merchandise. Although the quantities were in some cases limited, the agency reported, "the response to January promotions has been generous." A siege of winter weather in the Midwest was particularly effective in moving heavy wearing apparel, the agency says, adding that sales in most cases were 8 to 12 per cent ahead of a year ago.

Although invalidation of the AAA brought trading to a standstill in primary dry goods markets, the agency stated that reorders for regular dry goods lines were heavy.

Following is a tabloid review of business reported by Dun & Bradstreet, Inc., in the four divisions of wholesale and jobbing, retail trade, manufacturing and industry, and collections this week compared with the corresponding period last year.

Active (A); fair (F) means equal to; good (G) above; quiet (Q); slow (8) beliow last year.

Comment on Business.

ST. LOUIS—Smallest post-holiday drop in retail sales in the last six years; brisk movement of furniture, groceries and clothing kept volume 5 to 7 per cent ahead of comparative 1935 week. Year-end production curtaliment held to minimum proportions. Most industries increasing production; shoe factories on larger schedules.
Lead and sinc miners closed best year since 1930.

BALITIMORE—The new year opened with retail shopping active, in spite of the let-down foilowing the holiday season;
volume continued above the previous year's,
bolstered by the heavy demand for rubber footwear, winter clothing and hardware.
Low retail stocks kept wholesalers well occupied with replacements and orders for January promotion goods. Factory schedules increased following holidays.

CHICAGO—With production and payrolls rising, industrial divisions made a better showing than during opening week of 1935: Electric output set record for period. Building permits for year up 70 per cent from 1934. Although total was higher than year ago, retail sales were slowed by unfavorable weather. Annual trade shows brought heavy influx of buyers into wholesale markets.

CLEVELAND—Takee on a daily basis, omitting the holiday, industrial operations practically were unchanged for the week.

Steel production returned to its previous rate almost immediately after shut-down.

Discussions of the Federal budget are a bit baffling to the average citizen, couched as such discussions usually are in terms of millions and billions. An analysis based on the individual Federal dollar instead of the 5,146,000,000 collective dollars of the 1935-36 budget therefore should be helpful and inter-

To begin with, the Federal dollar is divided on the administration's books between two budgets: the "regular" and the "emergency and relief." The former gets 61.3 cents of the taxpayer's dollar this year; the latter, 37.6 cents. The remaining 1.1 cents goes to supplemental funds. Comparison with the 1934-35 budget shows the proportional difference made this ular budget got 58.4 cents of each dollar, the emergency budget, 41.6 cents.

The gathering was political, and so also, appropriately, was the speech of Mr. Roosevelt in his double role of President and party leader. Even so, it was a calmer and more judicious speech than the one he made to Congress-and the radio audiencelast Friday night.

If any attendant at the dinner had doubted the political nature of the occasion-which, of course, none did, considering that of the $50 charge per plate, all but a small fraction went into the party coffers-his doubts would have been resolved on seeing at the head table, alongside the President, the beaming face of Jim Farley and the satisfied countenance of that other sterling Democrat, J. A novice airman wins his pilot's license, an airplane dealer sells him an outmoded airplane, danger ous enough for even a seasoned flyer; the novice takes the airplane aloft, the fabric strips from one of its elderly wings, the novice dies in a crash: with him die his wife and another man.

Thus may be summarized the accident in which three persons went to their death yesterday in tion which commercial aviation, striving to convince prospective passengers of the safety of air transportation, has utterly failed to meet. While air lines spend millions for the finest new equipment, and reputable airport operators provide the best equipment for their passengers, obsolete and obsolescent aircraft are sold without apparent regard for their ultimate fate and its effect on the future of aviation. Meanwhile, the Department of Commerce continues to grant licenses to old equipment, by law, as long as it is structurally sound, and can exercise no control over its sale.

The result is recorded in scores of crashes annually which have much the same history as the crash of yesterday. Yet the solution is obvious: Let the operators junk the equipment for which they no longer have use. Their loss in the process will be many times repaid in an increase of public confi-

The AAA Decision

THE opinions of the Supreme Court in the AAA case deal with a constitutional question which, though it began in the historic debate between Hamilton and Madison, has become momentous in the last 20

In 1913, the Constitution was amended to give Congress the power "to lay and collect taxes on incomes from whatever source derived, without apportionment among the several states, and without regard to any census or enumeration." By that amendment, Congress acquired power to tax the ne of the American people.

If Congress possesses also the power to spend that income as it sees fit, if there are no constitutional limits no constitutional limits upon its spending power, then clearly the Federal Government has in fact ceased to be a limited government. For there are very few purposes of government which cannot be effected through the power to tax and to spend. If that power is subject to no constitutional check, than other limitations on the Federal power are without real vitality. He who pays the piper calls the tune. It is around the power of the purse that the basic development of constitutional government has Once Congress has acquired virtually unlimited power to tax, the question was bound to arise whether it has virtually unlimited power to spend. In the AAA case, the queswas brought before the court.

The court divided. It was in agreement, of course, as Mr. Justice Stone, speaking for the minority, put it, that the po and to spend may be used only for purposes that are "truly national," and that it may not be used to "coerce action left to state control." The chief point of disagreement was whether, by paying farmers to farm in a particular way (a matter "left to state control"), Congress was coercing them. Mr. Justice Roberts held that by purchasing purchasing their compliance with the will of Congress the AAA was in reality exercising coercion; that it was, therefore, attempting to do by expenditure of money something it is otherwise forbidden to do by the Constitution.

The issue here is one not of words but of enormous political importance. It is a question not for legal technicians alone but for statesmen, and it cannot be resolved by splitting hairs about the words "purchase and "coerce." The view taken by Mr. Justice Roberts is that a government which has unlimited money to spend for unlimited purposes has such great power that it can in vade the states and, in fact, though by indirection, establish a centralized in place of a Federal Government.

It is difficult to see how his argument can be refuted. If Congress can take as much of the people's income as it pleases, and can then spend it as it pleases, it can do almost anything. The Agricultural Adjustment Act was unmistakably an attempt to regulate from Washington the management of several million farms. As Mr. Justice Roberts pointed out, if that can be done under the spending power, then the only trouble with the NRA was that its authors were not clever enough to buy compliance with the codes instead of trying to impose them.

Can it be seriously disputed that Congress could make almost any legislation effective by paying for compliance with its will? No student of modern legislation could dispute

it. For it is by granting and withholding money to states, cities and individuals that a very large part of modern legislation is enforced. It is an excellent device.

It is, wherever it can be applied, a far better device than direct legislative commands or prohibitions, and perhaps the chief reason why the AAA was such an administrative success and the NRA such an administrative failure is that in order to insure obedience, the AAA relied upon purchase and the NRA on commands. The device is not immoral, as perhaps some readers of Mr. Justice Roberts' opinion may by his language have been led to feel. It is an indispensable instrument of government, a necessary sanction of the law.

But it should be recognized as such And if the power to make it the law does not exist under the Constitution, then the power to use money to enforce such a law has to be denied. The spending power can be used an an instrument to enforce law. It is an excellent and effective instrument. same may be said of the policeman. But if the law itself is unconstitutional, then there is no more right to enforce it with money than to enforce it by calling out the police.

If there is to be argument about the verdict of the court, we should ask not whether Congress may use money as an instrument to enforce unconstitutional laws, but whether the law itself had an unconstitution al purpose. Mr. Justice Roberts stated flatly, though he did not discuss the question, that "to regulate and control agricultural production" is "beyond the powers delegated to the Federal Government." If that is correct, then Congress cannot use money to regulate and control agricultural production.

The statement that Congress has no power to regulate and control agricultural production is one which, if taken literally, is rather astonishing. Does it mean that all of Mr. Hoover's attempts to regulate the price of agricultural staples were unconstitutional? Surely the regulation of a price is form of control over production. Are all the farm-relief plans that the Republicans have proposed or are about to propose un-constitutional? Every one of them seeks in some way or other to affect agricultural prices. Is it beyond the power of the Federal Government to regulate farm production by opening up new lands through irrigation or closing old lands by turning them into forests? It is difficult to believe that the court meant to say that the national Government has no right to concern itself with the prob-lems of agricultural production. That would be to read into the words of Mr. Justice Roberts more than he can possibly have meant them to mean.

The more reasonable interpretation would seem to be, not that the national Govern-ment is without power to protect the fertility of the land which is the patrimony of the nation and the self-sufficient agricul tural production upon which its independence depends, but that in this particular case t went into too great detail, became too intimately entangled in local and personal affairs and thus got beyond the reasonable limits of Federal action.

Just as there never has been any reason to suppose that the NRA decision rendered Congress powerless to deal with the nation al aspects of industry, so there is no con-

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10. A T 11:30 A. M. of the day the historic AAA decision was handed down by the Supreme court. President Roosevelt was olding a conference regarding the Farm Tenant Bill.

Simultaneously the Nine Old Men who knocked the foundation out from under his New Deal legislation were about to put on their black robes and go on the bench. Sitting with Roosevelt in the White House were Secretary of Agriculture Wallace; Will Alexander, who is Tugwell's right-hand man on tenant farming; Marvin Jones, chairman of the House Committee

The President explained that for political reasons he wanted this bill passed as soon as possible. Turning to Representative Jones of the Agriculture Committee, he said: "Marvin, what about getting hear-

"I doubt it," replied the President. "I don't think we'll have anything serious to worry about."

It is helpful to remember that simple fact, says the Bureau of Home themselves because they have no "shortening," and are leavened of Agriculture, for cakes and cakewith air. They are essentially meringues with flour added. There plex fields of cookery.

Butter Cakes One Class. is no fat, and the only ingredients

One class, or family of cakesare eggs, sugar, flour and flavoroften called the butter cakes—are ing, with a little acid. For a plain made with butter or some other fat. sponge cake, four or five eggs, one The cup cakes, foundation cake, cup of sugar, one cup of sifted white cake, chocolate cake, devil's soft-wheat flour, three tablespoons food, pound cake and fruit cake, of lemon juice, half a lemon rind with all their countless variations, grated, half a teaspoon of salt. are members of this family. The Separate the egg yolks and whites, other class is the sponge family—beat the yolks and add the sugar, yellow sponge, angel food, chocolate feather cake, and so on. These flour sifted with half the salt. Add the rest of the salt to the egg.
In the so-called butter cakes, the whites, beat stiff, and fold into

It contains the same ingredients—fat, flour, liq-more sugar (one and one-fourth uid, eggs and leavening-but with cups), the whites of eight to ten more fat, more sugar and more eggs, a teaspoon of cream of tartar eggs than in muffin batter. All (instead of the lemon juice), and the cakes of this family are made a teaspoon of vanilla. The purpose with these same basic ingredients, of the acid is to make the in different proportions according whites more extensible, so they to the cake texture desired. will take up more air.

Recipe Balanced.

A cake recipe must be balanced however. When the quantity of one ingredient is changed, others must be changed. When something is added, to give a different flavor or texture, the quantities of all ingredients must be checked up with reference to what the new ingredient supplies, using less fat, for instance, if nuts are added to the batter, less flour if chocolate is added, and so on. It is because of the effects of the different ingredients on each other that there are so many cake recipes, despite the fact that the basic ingredients

Many cakemakers think of the butter cakes as four types, according to richness—plain cake, "standard" or "foundation" cake, "rich" cake, and pound cake. The plain cup of fat to one cup of sugar, two and one-half cups of flour, one egg and three-fourths cup of liq-uid. Because this cake here cake has least fat-only one-fourth fat, and dries out so quickly, it is used fresh, oftentimes hot—as cup cakes, cottage pudding, Washington pie or Boston cream pie, and pineapple upside down cake. It is a good batter to use for "surprise cakes"—little cup cakes with dried fruit, or blueberries, or nuts, in the flour, as do the other recipes here

Foundation Cake Richer. "Standard" or foundation cake more fat, more sugar and more more fat, more sugar and more eggs. The proportions run thus:
One-half cup of fat, one and one-half cups of sugar, two or three eggs, two and two-thirds cups of flour, one cup of liquid. This batter is a good basis for nut cake, spice cake, or chocolate cake. For chocolate flavored batter, however, duce the amount of flour, because of the starch in the chocolate.

"Rich" cake, as some cakemakers cake recipe that calls for "one of butter, two of sugar, three of flour, and four eggs," also a cup of liquid. With cake flour, the liquid in this recipe is reduced to three-fourths cup, so the batter will not be too thin, but with all-purpose flour a full cup is needed. This batter makes a good rich "yellow-batter cake," or, by leaving out the egg yolks, it makes the standard white cake. Made with sour milk and soda instead of sweet milk, and with less baking powder, it is the basis for devil's food cake also.

Pound Cake Richest Pound cake, the richest of all, is made by the old recipe of a pound of each ingredient — butter, sugar, flour and eggs—but there is no liquid in this recipe, and no baking powder or soda. Pound cake is leavened a little by the air that is beaten into the eggs and into the batter, which is leavening enough for the typical pound-cake texture. Fruit cake is pound cake with nuts and fruits added to the batter, and is heavier, of course, bepermit the batter to rise. With the fruits and nuts, this rich mixture retains moisture so well that the weeks in advance and stored away in a tight box to let the flavors

Mixing Important.

Mixing the batter is, of course, very important part of the cakemaking process. For one thing the ingredients before mixing should be allowed to stand in the kitchen until they are all at room temperature. In the richer cakes, the longest and most careful method of mixing gives the best and finest cake texture, says the bureau, and that method is: Cream the fat by itself until it is soft. Add the sugar and cream this mixture until it is light and fluffy. Then add the egg yolks, well beaten. Next add the flour, sifted with baking powder and salt, and liquid alternately, a little at a time, to prevent separation of the fat. Beat well after each addition of flour. Fold in the stiffly beaten egg whites last of all, and do not stir after that. For plain cakes, mix the batter as if for muffins. Melt the fat, mix it well with the liquid and the

Even if these ground meats do come from the least attractive of all cuts, they are made tender by the grinding and carry just as good flavor as the most costly cuts.

Make meat balls from these ground meats. They look most attractive in the serving platter surrounded by some well-seasoned gravy, and they take less time to It's a bit different to have the meat ground two or three times, so that it is very fine, then shape it into tiny balls for boiling or frying. They may be cooked done in cream gravy or spiced sauces and served three or four to one serv-ing. Or you might make porcupine prickles sticking out all over their sides. To achieve this effect, use raw rice in the balls so that, as they steam slowly done, these pieces of rice swell up and push out of the balls. Either beef, veal or ham may be used for the meat. Ham Shank Useful.

If you've purchased the shank half of the ham, you might try cutting slices from the large end for boiling or baking and then grind the meat from the shank end for meat balls. These are mixed with raw or cooked rice, or bread crumbs and egg, then browned and cooked slowly done in tomato or white

There is nothing that catches the It may be a cream sauce for the and one-half pounds pork, three pounds beef, one and one-half cups sauce for meat, or a sweet sauce raw carrot, one onion, three cups for dessert; in any case, the sauce is the thing!

When leftovers become trite, give them a new outlook with a differ-ent sauce. This may be a cream sauce or a mock hollandaise. Leftovers that would seem to have nothing in common develop a great deal of amity by being put together with a sauce.

Make Them Carefully.

The French cooks insist that sauces were invented by them and when one realizes the care with which a sauce is put together one can well believe it. An ordinary white sauce is never cooked for less than half an hour and the blending and constant stirring are portions of the ritual.

The hollandaise sauce which belongs to the white or cream sauces is especially good on vegetables such as broccoli or cauliflower for the tart quality adds much to the rather nondescript flavor of these vegetables. The banana horseradish dressing is a welcome change from the rather vapid fruit salad dressings. The addition of horseradish lends a degree of piquancy that most people appreciate. Chocolate sauce is the logical but when that sauce has a cool peppermint flavor. If you prefer another sauce, try the butterscotch or sterling sauce on ice cream or on the familiar pudding. The disappearance of every-day puddings topped with these last named sauces

Eggplant in Market Now With Oranges Striking Reasonable Price Level.

The eggplant addicts will lift eye and tempts the appetite more quickly than an old familiar dish dressed up in a brand-new sauce. their voices in loud rejoicing, for fresh eggplant, beautifully purple, is now in the markets. So is rhubarb for those who wish to get their spring training in early. You may not be able to escape the wintry blasts by going South, but you can eat rhubarb and pretend it's spring. New Cabbage for Slaw.

New cabbage is especially good just now, with succulent green leaves which dietitians tell us are very good for us. Here it might be a good time to note that most cooks overcook cabbage, leaving it limp and dejected, and with the majority of vitamins strained into the sink. If you must cook cabbage long to satisfy the family, at least reserve the water in which it has cooked for soups, so that the valuable eral elements will not be lost. The new cabbage make truly delicious slaws, which may be served hot or cold, according to the dressing.

Oranges are quite cheap in many markets now, with a choice of California or Florida. This should be good news to most housewives who start the family out with a glass of orange juice in the morning.

The beef roast suggested for Wednesday's dinner should be purchased with a view to furnishing two meals. This need not be the expensive rib roast which, we grant, is delicious. It may be chuck or sirloin or one of those interesting arm rolls. The chuck should be rolled and tied for best results. Are Served to Best Advantage.

For real zest at the homeliest meal there is nothing that takes the place of hot breads. crusty rolls, light, flaky biscuits or popular breads.

Every cook knows the difference between quick breads, so called, and risen breads. Half an hour's time is all that is required for the quick breads made with baking powder, milk and shortening. The risen or yeast dough requires about two or hree hours from putting togethe to baking time. The yeast doughs have an advantage over the baking powder kind since they may be stored in the icebox for as long as a week. If the utensil is tightly covered and the dough is "knocked down" at intervals the dough will remain quite fresh. Icebox Rolls May Be Varied.

These icebox rolls can be turned into raisin, sweet or caramel rolls by a few simple additions, and will serve as luncheon, breakfast or dinner rolls.

Biscuits, too, may be improved by the simple addition of cheese. You can find nothing better to go with the luncheon salad than hot cheese biscuits. A beverage and a substantial dessert complete the meal. For dinner they may be served with three tablespoons India relish and a hot main dish. Pineapple jam one tablespoon chopped stuffed and cheese biscuits make a very substantial dessert.

Among the hot breads, orange bread is particularly nice to have slices and spread with ham mixon hand. It makes tempting thin ture. Cut in halves or fancy shapes butter sandwiches for tea or for the children's lunches. If it happens that any is left it may be turned into delicious toast by spreading with melted butter and until slightly brown in a moderate oven. Cornmeal is an important ingredient in many hot breads of Southern origin. These are usually raised with baking powder, though one does encounter cornbreads that have been raised with yeast, Southern Johnny Cake. Two cups cornmeal.

Three tablespoons melted butter.

One egg, well beaten. One teaspoon salt. Two cups sour milk. Combine the ingredients in the order given. Beat well, and transfer to a shallow pan rubbed with butter or margarine. Bake in a hot oven, 375 degrees F., for 20 minutes. or until firm in the center and brown on top. Cheese Biscuits. One-half teaspoon salt. Two-thirds cup milk.

Four teaspoons baking powder. One-third cup butter. One-half cup grated cheese. One teaspoon sugar.

Sift dry ingredients together work in butter and then grated cheese. Add milk and mix all ingredients together. Toss on floured board and pat into desired thickness; cut out with small cutter and bake in a hot oven (425 degrees F. for about 12 minutes.

Orange Bread.

Three cups flour. Five teaspoons baking powder. One-half teaspoon salt. One-half cup sugar. Two eggs, separated. One cup orange juice.

One-fourth cup milk.

One tablespoon melted butter. Sift flour, measure and resift three times with baking powder, salt and sugar. Beat egg yolks slightly, add orange juice and con-tinue beating. Add milk and stir; combine with flour and add butter. Beat egg whites until stiff and fold batter; if desired, add onefourth to one-half teaspoon grated 15. Fight orange rind. Turn into a buttered loaf tin (8x4x3 inches), pushing well into the corners and leveling the top. Spread with a mixture made as follows: Cream one tablespoon butter and stir in one-half cup sugar, a dash of cinnamon and onefourth teaspoon grated orange rind. Bake bread for 20 minutes at 300 degrees F.; then increase the oven temperature to 375 degrees and continue baking 30 minutes longer, kidney beans, mashed, and use as a sandwich filling. Top shirred eggs, or baked eggs in ramekins, with it before baking. Mix it with Worcestershire sauce, tabasco and horseradish, and you've the absolutely perfect sauce for sea food cocktails, ready in a jiffy.

A Different Seasoning. Blend chili sauce with cold baked

Use for Mustard. Spread mustard on steak, ham, or

Seven-eighths teaspoon baking hamburgers before they are broiled. Add to hollandaise sauce. Serve with corned beef hash for supper as a change from chili sauce or catsup. Spread on veal cutlets just before they take their dip in beaten eggs and crumbs. Mix with the other good things that go into stuffed eggs. Stuffed Fruit.

It was originally created in Switzerland as a strengthening food for in-valids, convalescents, and the aged. Then physicians found that, when it was taken as a hot drink at bedtime, it also proved a remarkable aid to sound and restful sleep.

It is not a medicine in any sense of the word. It is as free of drugs as the bread you eat or the milk you drink. People everywhere who take it regularly as a nightcap report they fall asleep quickly. And awaken mornings, filled with new strength and energy as a result of natural, refreshing sleep. See for yourself how remarkable Ovaltine is. Get a can at any drug, grocery, or department store today. Or, mail the coupon for trial supply. NOTE: If you are overweight, take Oval-tine made with skimmed milk. And if you cut down on other foods (especially weepth-building fats and starches). Ovaltine will provide important vitamins and food elements that help to maintain vitality without adding weight.

U. S. STEEL SHIPMENTS DOWN 101 20,305 TONS IN DECEMBER

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, Jan. 10.—Shipments of fin ished steel products by the U. S. Steel Corp in December decreased 20,305 tons to 661, 515 tons. This compared with 681,821 tons in November and 418,630 tons in December, 1934.

tons in November and 418,630 tons in December, 1934.

The company's shipments in December, 1933, amounted to 600,639 tons, and in December, 1932, to 227,576 tons.

For the year ended Dec. 31, last, exclusive of year-end adjustments, shipments aggregated 7,371,299 tons as against 5,925,873 tons in the previous 12 months.

The daily average shipments of finished steel products for 25 working days in December were 26,460 tons, about 813 tons under the average of 27,273 tons in November. Authorities considered the December showing 'avorable considering curtailment during the holidays.

For the 310 working days in 1935 the average was 23,781 tons compared with an average of 19,373 tons a day during 1934. It is expected the 1935 average will be larger when year-end adjustments are figured.

3 no tr'p Pass
6 spades, final bid T will be noted, from the bidding, that North knew he had a slight-that North knew he had a slightly demented partner and did his best to apply the brakes, until the five-spade bid, following a previous jump, lured him into being gullible "just once more." Needless to say, South's second jump was outrageous—even his first was a considerable extent.

and took the trump finesse to his jack. It held and, luckily, the suit broke 3 and 3. (Approximate odds against this combination of breaks

Taking this much as a matter of course, South now proceeded to break the heart suit 3 and 3 (the odds are approximately 2 to 1 against this) for the discard of his losing diamond. He ruffed a diamond to enter his hand and let the club 10 ride through. East's queen won and another diamond was led, ich South ruffed. Now the sec ond club finesse was attempted, but it lost to East's king.

Whereupon South cursed lustily and called on heaven to witness his TODAY'S QUESTION.

Question: My opponents bid up to three no trump, which my part-ner doubled. The bidding was as follows:

1 spade Pass 2 hearts Pass 2 no trump Pass 3 no trump D'ble I was East and had to lead. My hand was: ♠ J986, ♥ 109, ♠ 10542, ♣ Q74. What card should I have led? Answer: The ten of hearts. Your partner's double strongly implies that he is expecting a heart open-ing lead through South's bid suit.

That upset the rhythm of digestion. The child felt uncomfort able after eating. He learned that perience and that made feeding him the next time a doubtful instead of a certain experience. He might re fuse to eat, or take only part of his feeding. That set another wrong notion about eating.

The wrong diet. Children cannot eat what grown people eat. They should not eat strong foods, spiced meats, heavy cheese, rich pastries. If the children are at the same table, and they usually are, they look with longing eyes at the good things the grownups are enjoying. Someone says, "Oh, let him have a little piece. It won't hurt THE GREATEST OF EASE him." So he gets a nibble of this and a nibble of that. His taste for his simple food is spoiled. He demands more sugar, more meat, sweets of all sorts, now that he has earned how good they taste. This means he loses his desire for his own regular, simple diet and be-comes a food-fusser in earnest.

Feeding children is about the most important thing we do for them. The food they eat, their en-joyment of it, affects their growth,

The Treatment Of Bad Habits In Childhood

Thumb Sucking Has Effect of Causing Physical Deformities.

If the habit is overcome before the second teeth come in, all these deform les disappear spontaneously. Another dangerous thing about thumb sucking is that it introduces a good deal of dirt and a number of germs into the body.

When the habit persists after the first two years it does harm in various ways-not only through deming an all-engrossing source of emotional satisfaction, unnatural and emotionally crippling.

It is best to try to break the habit up in infancy. Occasional thumb sucking should be interdicted promptly before it gets to be habit, In infants, mechanical methods of ure are practical. The simplest of all consists in binding the thumbs oid with adhesive plaster. In many cases this is quite effective. Aluminum thimbles and other mechanical devices which can be tied on the innd fant's thumb also usually work. The immobilization of the infant's arm by plaster of Paris or a splint may be used when the habit is well established and seems to be gaining

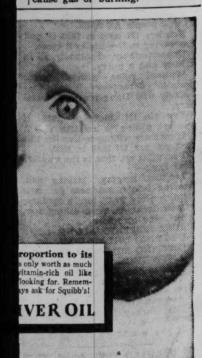

In older children such devices will not work because they can be too easily removed. In these children attempts should be made to discover the original cause. It may be response to underfeeding or over-feeding. Sleepiness also is induced by the gratification of this habit. The habit practically always ends

Professor Hellscher, the "one master mystic and medium king in St. Louis"according to his card-relieved me of two dollars in exchange for several pieces of very sage advice. The Professor gazed into his crystal, ran his hands through graying hair and, with the air of one in great pain, advised me to sign no documents, papers or contracts, without reading them over and understanding what I was signing; to look in both directions before crossing a street or highway and to studiously avoid confiding any secrets to women.

The Professor was absent when I arrived. An obliging young man of five, in overalls, invited me to sit down and wait. The Professor, he informed me, was out getting the soup. He also invited me to read from a bunch of cards and pamphlets on the table.

From one of Professor Hellscher's yellow broadsides I learned that "thousands of St. Louisans-society leaders, business and professional men, rich and poorbelieved him the superman of the age. I also discovered that the Professor can reunite the separated, cause speedy and happy marriages and locate hidden treas-The broadside informed me too that I was in "the most sumptuously equipt seer's parlors in the United States."

This parlor, upstairs over a chain grocery, was evidently decorated by someone with a weakness for Copenhagen blue woodwork. I was admiring the blue fireplace when the professor's assistant came in. She chased her young son out of the room, turned on the radio, and was delighted to find that I liked hill-billy music. And to the tune of "She'll Be Comin' 'Round the Mountain," the combination housekeeper and assistant escorted me around the room to view framed testimonials from Mayor Dickmann and Mrs. Roosevelt, thanking the Professor for his election predictions. I remember a line in the broadside about reading "several of the famous prophecies he made-all came true, which no other in this profession can boast of."

The Professor poked his head through some blue curtains and indicated that he would receive me in the inner sanctum. There was some haggling over price, during which the Professor tried to highpressure me into a five-dollar reading, We finally agreed on a two-dollar session and I was invited to place two one-dollar bills in the Bible by way of getting the reading under way.

After advising me on the proper method to cross a street, the dangers of signing papers I had not read, and the wisdom of keeping my secrets to myself, the Professor was overcome by a fit of generosity and although he assured me that my o dollar contribution did not permit him to go into the matter, he was willing to warn me that I was in the power of an "evil influence" that should be removed. What I need, it seems, is a series of readings, which the Professor is willing to undertake for $25.00. Until I part with that amount, the "evil influence" will continue to stym'e my chances for love, marriage, wealth, and success. If I do decide to part with the $25.00 and shake off the "evil influence." I have the professor's word for it that success awaits me as either a politician or a medium. At the present writing I am undecided whether to spend $25.00 with Professor Hellscher to rid myself of the evil eye or

He insisted that I was might achieve such desirable things as poise, influence and personality.

I felt like I had wandered into something out of the Arabian Nights but as Khiron rummaged in his desk drawer for a pack of cards I regained my composure.

From the little squares, he discovered that I was going to get a letter; that I would live to be 73 years old, whether I wanted to or not, and that I would receive an invitation to a wedding—whether my own or someone else's, he could not say.

Then with a generosity comparable to Professor Hellscher's, he granted me a magic powder flared in the boiler, the and said he was sure my wish would Answer: Your letter is too real not to answer it frankly. Perhaps you will think me cruel, but for your daughter's own good I wish she might be given no allowance at all, but made to find herself a job and earn what she spends herself. It might make her realize that her present attitude has not a trace of the qualities of a thoroughbred. In no way is she trying to do her own share; she is not loyal to her father, she is not being fair to him or to you, and she is certainly showing neither self-control nor courage! Can't she realize that to have her horizon close down on the price tag of a dress, and to acknowledge that without an expensive one she herself has no beauty nor wit nor charm nor any come-hither personality of her own, is not altogether flattering to herself. Nor is it tribute to her talent as a hostess This is brutal, but it is the sort of truth that is likely to goad her into sitting up and taking count of her potential assets, instead of letting them atrophy and making false gods of name tags in hats and dresses. THE STONE OF SACRIFICE—Nowhere in the world was hurning dedication of temples and for various other reasons. Five priests held the victim, while a sixth, clad in a scarlet cloak, extracted the living, palpitating heart, to raise it in homage to the Sun God. 20,000 victims were sacrificed in this manner yearly. The Stone of Sacrifice is now in the Museo Nacional in Mexico. On this huge cylinder, 8% feet in diameter, 2½ feet in thickness, more than a million victims are said to have been sacrificed to Huitzilopochtli, the God of War.

In 1486, 70,000 captives are said to have been sacrificed here within a short time. In one alone of the edifices ad joining the Temple, Cortez is said to have counted 136,000 skulls of those sacrificed.

The financial migration of the scorched Enoch Ardens started last October when the bilked chickens left conditions were healthy. If that makes October when the bilked chickens left conditions were healthy. If that makes wall street a health farm we will take a non-stip flight to Vesuvius and use the old oaken bucket for a parachute Gambling is always healthy if you

Mr. Eccles' nimble observation the TURN TO the punks were using cash is also in line with that sage gambling axiom, WRIGLEY'S "Never take a sucker's breakfast money." Which doesn't hold good in Florida, where you can climb a tree FOR REAL FLAVOR! at dawn and knock down the morning

> If you are not to take a sucker's breakfast money how about his lunch and supper? And some of them like a cold snack at midnight. This would be a nice fattening schedule if brokers didn't have to eat too. It all narrows down to the contest between the scorpion and the tarantula. You've got to get in the first bite.

Roosevelt Expresses Self in Favor of Some Plan Built Around Soil Conservation.

SPECIALIST CALLED FROM CALIFORNIA

Wallace and Davis Address Agriculturalists but Take No Part in Their Delibera-

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 .- A committee of 13 farm leaders worked until late last night on a program to take the place of the invalidated Agricultural Adjustment Act. The rough draft was expected to be ready for submission today to the farm conference of 100 leaders called by Secretary of Agriculture.
Howard R. Tolley, described by administration officials as the
"foremost agricultural economist" in the United States, has been in-

in the United States, has been invited to attend the conference.

Tolley, now director of the Giannini Foundation in California, began a regional planning and soil conservation study last spring. Until October he was Assistant AAA Administrator.

Administrator.

The invitation to Tolley was considered significant in view of the fact that President Roosevelt, Secretary Wallace and AAA Administrator Chester Davis have said they consider it desirable to proceed toward production control through subsidized soil conservation.

Roosevelt's Views.

President Roosevelt, at his press conference yesterday, said he believed a soil conservation-production control program was the best means of aiding agriculture. He definitely opposed subsidies for exports of farm commodities.

"We must avoid any national agricultural policy which will result in the shipping of our soil fertility to foreign nations," he said.

Davis has expressed his preference for a composite soil conservation program, plus some form of domestic allotment plan to provide immediate government aid to farm-

Wallace and Davis addressed the farm conference at the outset yes-terday but took no part in general discussions. Wallace cautioned the farm leaders against any program based on a policy of domestic food scarcity to consumers.

In the view of several farm leaders, soil conservation might result in control of production. For instance, they said, a farmer might retire a percentage of his land from commercial crops and plant it to coil-building legumes, receiving Government money for so doing. The result would be controlled production of commercial crops and sustained prices.

Or, instead of making payments for planting lands in soil-conserving crops, the Government might fix quotas for portions of crops to be sold for domestic consumption. Then cash subsidies might be paid on those quotas. on those quotas.

If farm lands were planted in legumes for five years and, then turned into commercial crops, several farmers said, production might be doubled, owing to the improvement of the soil. By adopting the soil conservation plan, it was said, yields could be increased analysis. yields could be increased, produc-tion costs reduced drastically and surpluses kept under control.
